

How virtual cards can lead to real financial freedom

Can you quickly free up cash through your supply chain? A lot of businesses struggle — and many are finding it even harder right now as late payments from buyers continue to rise.

That lack of liquidity is obviously problematic. Because if you're not fully in charge of your finances, you're not fully in charge of your business.

But there's a way to win back control.

94%

of organizations that use virtual cards say their transactions are faster, more detailed, and more secure. **

Take charge of your cash with Virtual Cards

Virtual cards are ideal for targeting suppliers who accept traditional payment cards but don't accept early payments. While they work the same as physical cards, they're more secure and flexible, and allow you to earn rebates (subject to availability) while holding onto cash for up to 60 days longer.

What's more, virtual cards help you:

Minimize payment fraud
Virtual cards are unique, single-use cards that can't be misplaced, stolen, or cloned. And they can only be used to pay the invoice they're generated for, eliminating unauthorized payments.

Grow your financial flexibility
Virtual cards are one of the easiest working capital solutions you can deploy. You can implement them quickly, without onerous negotiations with your suppliers.

Streamline payments
Virtual cards replace the need for both manual accounting and invoice and expense submission. So you can reduce wasted time and speed up your payments process.
